Featuring this week on Nunavimuit:

Snow Festival Part 6: Music and Dance at the Snow Festival

Make sure you tune in to Nunavimuit on APTN this week to watch the Puvirnituaq Snow Festival Part 6: music and dance at the snow festival

In the evening, while everyone warms up from watching or participating in the outdoor activities, singles or dance groups stepped, tapped or square danced to compete for prizes. All contestants had to work really hard as they had only 60 seconds to showcase their dancing abilities. All their hard work, practice, long hours and perhaps even blood, sweat and tears tucked into one minute to prove that you are better than all your opponents. A very daunting task but everyone took it in stride and did their best. The audience was also treated to an accordion-playing contest; which seemed almost a nail biter by the looks on some of the contestant's faces. We thought being on Canadian or American idol was difficult – phew, these contestants had twice as many judges, not to mention all the family and friends sitting in the audience. This program will surely bring a smile to your face as you watch the performers, especially the children.

You could watch Nunavimuit every Tuesday at 11:00 PM and every Wednesday at 10:30 AM, 2:30 PM, and 6:30 PM.

TV and Radio crews in Montreal this week

The TNI television crew and the TNI radio are in Montreal this week to cover the Nunavik Government experience symposium hosted by Makivik and Dialog.

Sandy Tooma, Bobby Kenuajuak and Caroline Uqaituk will be in Montreal until Friday, November 18th, at which time they will return to their respective communities. Julie Grenier and Guy Fradette will also be at the symposium, as part of the television crew.

The event will be covered live on the TNI regional network.
